

VACANCY - Trainee Editors, Frontline Gastroenterology

Frontline Gastroenterology is pleased to invite applications for the post of Trainee Editor of the Editorial Board.

Frontline Gastroenterology publishes articles that accelerate adoption of innovative and best practice in the fields of gastroenterology, hepatology and clinical nutrition. Frontline Gastroenterology is especially interested in articles on multidisciplinary research and care, focusing on both retrospective assessments of novel models of care as well as putative future directions of best practice.

Frontline Gastroenterology is an official publication of the British Society of Gastroenterology and is a companion journal to Gut, BMJ Open Gastroenterology and Gut Science.

The Trainee Editor position is a 2-year appointment with a specific remit in a few different areas:

- Assisting with the development of educational content (including podcasts, webinars, blogs)
- Helping with the journal's primary work including reviewing papers and supporting the Associate Editor team and Editor in chief
- Optimising the social media presence of the journal to expand national and international reach
- Representing opinions of the trainee body and helping to shape the strategy, content and direction of the journal

The only requirement is that you are currently in a training post, irrespective of stage. We strongly encourage applications from trainees around the globe and from all backgrounds – the diversity of our team is a great strength and asset.

The Trainee Editor will report directly to the journal's Editor-in-Chief, Dr Philip Smith, and will be expected to attend the journal's editorial meetings.

To apply, please send a CV in addition to a covering letter, outlining a) your reasons for your interest in the post and b) any ideas and innovations you will bring to the role, to: Dr Aditi Kumar (aditikumar@nhs.net) & Dr Oliver Tavabie (oliver.tavabie@nhs.net), Deputy Editors.

For informal enquiries for the role please contact current trainee editors as points of contact, Dr Kohilan Gananandan (k.gananandan1@nhs.net) and Dr Benjamin Norton (benjamin.norton@nhs.net). For formal enquiries, please contact Dr Kumar and Dr Tavabie.

Deadline for applications: Wednesday 16th December 2026. Interviews expected early January 2027.